

Ladok, the student records database, will be closed between 21 March at 17:00 and 9 April

As of 21 March at 17:00, and until 9 April, the study administration system, Ladok, will be closed to both students and staff at Lund University, due to the upgrade to the new version of Ladok. During this period, you will not be able to enter or retrieve any information from Ladok. In practice, it means that you will not be able to:

- view your results
- request or print out a Ladok certificate
- have any results reported in Ladok
- register for exams in the student portal (www.student.lu.se)
- register yourself, or be registered by someone else, for a course
- Apply for a degree certificate(web application closed 14 March-17 April)

Remember that the issuing of certain certificates or requests for degree certificates, for example, may take some time to process. Therefore, if you need something done before 21 March, be sure to make such requests in good time.

Lund University is currently preparing for the temporary shutdown of Ladok. Our goal is to make sure that it will affect you as a student as little as possible. We will return with more information as we proceed.

Read more about the temporary shutdown of Ladok: www.lunduniversity.lu.se/new-ladok

The student services in the new Ladok will look different. We will get back to you with more information as we proceed.